

A Passion for Woodworking

By Paula Briggs and Lluís Borrell

In this post, AccessArt Young Artist Lluís shares with us his love of woodworking and how his passion grew through childhood.

At a time when many children are not given the opportunity to explore making, Lluís' story reminds us of the importance of helping young people explore and understand their relationships with materials, tools and ideas, if we are to nurture the next generation of artists, designers and craftspeople.