Alison Sharkey

Business Manager

Alison has worked for over twenty years helping people nourish their creative practice. For eleven years she was Director of St Ives School of Painting in Cornwall, a charitable art school open to everyone. Before that she supported artists as a Professional Development Guide for an agency supporting creative practitioners and businesses. Having studied fine art first in the Outer Hebrides she went on to complete a BA at University College Falmouth Cornwall. She continues today to live next to the sea, looking for inspiration in wild places with big skies.
