Betsy Dadd

Betsy is an artist who works primarily with animation. She use hands-on drawing techniques to produce slow and painterly moving image work. During her MA at Royal College of Art, Betsy, experimented with ways to exhibit animations as installation.

Her recent exhibition consisted of a series of animations entitled Terra Infirma which were projected onto large scale drawings. The work depicted parts of the Norfolk coastline that is changing shape rapidly due to cliff slumping, which leaves vulnerable houses on the brink of the cliff.

Betsy now works as part of the team at Drawing Room.
