

The Making of: “Being Creative Builds Your Sense of Self”: A Simple Building Block Animation

By Paula Briggs

This post has been created as part of the #BeACreativeProducer project.

The resource shares a very simple way of making a stop motion animation using found objects, and the Stop Motion App on a phone or tablet. This is an ideal way to introduce animation to first time animators.

The brief for this particular animation was to create a title page using the words: “Being Creative Builds Your Sense of Self”

The teenage #BeACreativeProducer team decided to make an animation which played upon the words “builds” and “sense of self” by using building bricks and an image of a painted portrait.
