AccessArt & #BeACreativeProducer Digital Wellbeing Week

In response to the need to help teenagers navigate their use of digital media and increase their sense of wellbeing, AccessArt has launched a Digital Wellbeing Week.

Digital Wellbeing Week provides an opportunity for schools to encourage pupils to become more aware of their use of digital media, and how they can balance a more mindful and creative use of digital media with an exploration of creativity in the physical world.

The resources used in the Digital Wellbeing Week were created in collaboration with teenagers during the #BeACreativeProducer project. The resources have been designed to be shown in classrooms, assembly, or at home.

You can find all the resources you need below.

There are no set dates for the Digital Wellbeing Week – instead a school can choose a time which is convenient to them. The resources are suitable for Years 6 to 11 (UK schools) or ages 10 to 16.

The #BeACreativeProducer Project has 3 core values:

The project has 3 main core values:

- We need to help teenagers balance digital and physical, and to enable them to use digital in a mindful way
- We need to help teenagers value their creativity
- We can help teenagers find inspiration through friendship & collaboration

Monday

Meet the #BeACreativeProducer Team, and Then Try A quick quiz to help you think about how use use digital media

Follow-On Discussion Points:

How do you spend your time online?

How does it make you feel?

Is there anything you would like to change about the way you use digital media?

Tuesday

Be Creative! Why is Being Creative Important?

Follow-On Discussion Points:

What kinds of creative things do you do? In school and out of school? In the physical world, and in the digital world?

How do they make you feel?

Wednesday

How Can We Become More Creative?

Follow-On Discussion Points:

There are different stages to being creative. Sometimes you need to “take in” to get inspiration. Sometimes you need to make “space” to have ideas. Sometimes being creative feels good, but sometimes being creative is hard work.

Do you recognise any of these stages? How do you feel, in the different stages?

Can you think how you can help yourself, or help your friends, in the different stages?

Thursday

What Kinds of Things Can Hold Us Back?

Follow-On Discussion Points:

Do you recognise any of the “Ogres” that can hold us back?

How do you get round these thoughts?

Friday

Go For It! Tips & Tricks To Help You Be Creative

Follow-On Discussion Points:

Think about the things you like to look at online (music, fashion, art, dancing, film, games...).

Think about your own skills...

If you could have a dream, what would YOU like to produce/create?

Start small, or think big! It's up to you!

What Next?!

Make your own films & animations!

How You Might Use our Animations

The teenage #BeACreativeProducer team have made over 25 minutes of film & animations to inspire creativity in ages 10 to 16. The scenes are split below for ease of viewing, or you can watch the film in its entirety here \(26 minutes\).

The animations introduce concepts about teenage creativity. You may wish to use them to stimulate conversation and discussion, to help teenagers assimilate the ideas before they go on to explore their own creativity.

We hope that throughout the animations, we demonstrate how teenage creative skills can be used collaboratively to create inspirational content.

Once you have watched the animations, take a look at our animation resources which share animation techniques and ideas (including “the making of” certain scenes below).

Meet the Original #BeACreativeProducer Team

Background to the Project

The #BeACreativeProducer Project started in June 2018 when 5 teenagers (Alex, Amelia, Immy, Lluís and Rowan) led by Paula Briggs from AccessArt, began on a journey to make animations designed to inspire creativity in other teenagers.

The legacy of the project – the Final Animations, and Resources, are an inclusive way to widen the benefits of the project to audiences of young people in the UK and overseas.

The #BeACreativeProducer project encourages teenagers to work collaboratively, or alone, to create film and animations about the things they care about, and so helps young people develop their voice.

The project also helps teenagers balance their experience of the digital and physical world to feed their creativity.

Why Animation?

Exploring animation and film is an amazing way to inspire and enable teenage creativity.

The original #BeACreativeProducer Project demonstrates that an exploration of film and animation can offer teenagers a unique opportunity to develop their own creative interests, whatever they might be. Better still, by contributing those interests to a collaborative project they could then see the results valued by others.

The project encouraged teenagers to value their passions and skills, including woodwork, craft, printmaking, painting, drawing, calligraphy, drama, playing instruments, composing music (physically and digitally), and photo and film editing. All these skills have been brought together to make the final films and animations.

Teenagers can work alone or in small groups to make their animations. Whilst some teenagers will prefer to work alone and bring a variety of skills into their project, others will prefer to work collaboratively, sharing skills and inspiring each other.

Finally, making animations and films about things young people care about is the perfect way to help teenagers find and share their voice.

Who Might Enjoy Taking Part?

The #BeACreativeProducer project is suitable for ages 10 to 16.

Teachers might like to use the animations in assemblies, classrooms and after school clubs to promote discussion amongst pupils about why we should value and develop our creativity, and to inspire their own #BeACreativeProducer journey.

Workshop leaders or facilitators might also like to use the resources in galleries, museums and community centres with youth groups and workshop audiences.

Parents and home educators might like to help facilitate the #BeACreativeProducer journey with their families.

Giving Teenagers Their Voice

Giving Teenagers Their Voice Through Film & Animation

“Imogen has really enjoyed being part of the team for the CP project. Although she was a creative individual before the project (participating in lots of dance classes and playing/composing classical music) Imogen has been introduced to many more creative avenues and now has a much broader view of creativity.

She particularly liked the group discussions that the team had at various stages, learning how to work as part of a small team, picking up new skills associated with stop motion animation, helping to run workshops, interviewing others and filming. Imogen is excited about the idea that the project might encourage other teenagers to become more creative in the future.

Overall her confidence has visibly improved as a result of this opportunity and she understands much more about how digital technology can be used to great effect in creative situations."

Parent of #BeACreativeProducer teenager

"As part of the #BeACreativeProducer team Amelia has worked on an exciting animation project from initial concept all the way through to a fabulous finished product. With constant encouragement from Paula, ample opportunity to try things out, to reflect on and overcome false starts, and plenty of hard work later, Amelia is really proud of the results that the team has achieved.

An unexpected side-effect is that she has also gained great confidence in public speaking through canvassing members of the public for contributions to the project, leading workshops for (even) young(er) people and being part of the team that presented the project to the All Party Parliamentary Group for Art, Craft and Design in Education.” Parent of #BeACreativeProducer teenager

“The #BeACreativeProducer project ‘can do’ approach teaches teenagers to pick themselves up when they are down, demonstrates how collaboration and communication encourage creative thinking, provides stimulation, inspiration and constant feedback so that they never feel alone in their creative bubble.

Alex has grown in maturity and confidence as a member of the #BeACreativeProducer team. He has shown a level of commitment and tenacity beyond his years and far in excess of that we could expect a year ago; composing music for the project has given him a focus and reason for his creative exploration. He really understands that effort = output, has a real sense of pride in his work and values the importance of the team members and their network of mutual support.” Parent of #BeACreativeProducer teenager

The World Needs Your Creativity: Winners!

It's been amazing to see the animations entered for the #BeACreativeProducer Animation Competition! The teenage #BeACreativeProducer team of Alex, Amelia, Immy, Lluís and Rowan can be very proud of all the creativity they have inspired!

We had a very difficult but hugely enjoyable time watching the animations and thinking carefully about how to choose the winners. We had 32 entries: the standard was very high and the outcomes very varied.

"All the entries we received were really very impressive. The ways everyone interpreted the brief were engaging and interesting but all completely unique – some of them made us laugh and others made us cry! The range of topics made them quite difficult to judge as they were all such high quality! Well done to everyone who took part for entering such incredible animations – and especially to those who won prizes and were shortlisted." Immy, #BeACreativeProducer Team Member

In the end, after judging against our criteria (did the animation answer the brief? was it innovative? did it communicate its message?) the team decided we had to have more prize winners! Using money raised in their Crowdfunder as prize money, the teenage team very generously decided themselves to award the following prizes!

Congratulations to all who entered – its was such a hard choice and we loved receiving your work. All the entries below will be shown at the Opening Night of the #BeACreativeProducer Project at Cambridge Junction on the 28th February 2019.

Watch this space for the next competition.

Winner – Ben Heiss
The Henry's Odyssey Prize
Wins £100 Voucher

The #BeACreativeProducer team of judges loved the very clear message behind this animation which answered the brief of “The World Needs Your Creativity” so brilliantly. They also thought the music worked well with the visuals. Great story telling and great pace! Well done Ben.

The Henry’s Odyssey Prize is sponsored by Sarah Cannell in aid of Henry’s Odyssey

Second Prize – Zuzanna, Mariam, Malaikah
The Scolaquip Prize – Wins
£75 Voucher

The judges thought this was a very powerful animation and very much echoed the messages behind the larger #BeACreativeProducer project. Created by 3 girls from Dixons City Academy in Bradford, the judges loved it because it was graphically very strong.

The ScolaQuip Prize is sponsored by Scola

Runner Up – Finlay Wins £50 Voucher

This judges loved this animation by Finlay for its quirky humour and use of objects and technology as props for the animation. Thank you Finlay for making us laugh, and a great message too!

Leo, Jack, Sara, Megan & Dora Each Entry Wins £20 Voucher

It was SO hard deciding who should win, and the following animations came very close. We decided we had to give them a special mention. Varying so much in style and outcome, please enjoy watching the four animations included in the next showreel, by Leo, Jack, Sara, and Megan & Dora...

Present at the Houses of Parliament

The teenage #BeACreativeProducer team were invited to present their project at the APPG for Art, Craft and Design Education at the Houses of Parliament, London, on November 13th.

A full transcript of their presentation, including video clips of their animation, are provided below.

The team did incredibly well, holding the room with confidence, eloquence and creativity in abundance as they shared their experiences of the project, and spoke in support of arts education. They also answered a number of questions, holding the floor for 40 minutes. Well done team!

Introduction by Paula Briggs, Co-Director, AccessArt

"Hello, My Name is Paula from AccessArt, and I'm here with Sheila, my colleague, and the teenage #BeACreativeProducer team. I'm not going to talk for long before I pass you over to the team.

First of all a big thank you to the APPG for inviting us, we really appreciate the opportunity and we hope you enjoy our presentation.

I want to talk briefly about Creativity, and to look at the ways our project is enabling creativity in teenagers.

I don't think a week goes by when Sheila and I don't have a conversation about the nature of creativity, and the fragility of the creative process. The teenage years in particular, can be a time when a young person's creativity feels especially vulnerable. I want this to be an upbeat presentation, as I'm sure it will be, and these teenagers definitely deserve that, but I do want to touch on 2 things that can undermine teenager's creativity.

The first is the message we are giving to teenagers today, that there is a subject hierarchy, and that creativity is way down at the bottom. Let us all acknowledge, that by pushing creative subjects down in that subject hierarchy, we are in effect telling teenagers that their creativity does not matter. Not all teenagers, not all schools, many schools are managing to preserve their creative offering, but in general, this is the message teenagers are hearing.

The second thing which can undermine teenager's creativity is social media, or to put it into a wider context, the ability of the phone to keep the teenagers' attention.

Before I go any further I want to clarify, Sheila and I are great advocates of digital – we know that through embracing all things digital we have been able to impact upon visual arts education. BUT, we all acknowledge that social media has two sides: educational, inspiring, connecting, but it can also be distracting, and prevent a connection with the physical world. Even teenagers themselves acknowledge that whilst it can inspire them, it can also drain them.

The problem is that social media can prevent teenagers from paying attention to their creativity. It is the thing they go to when they are bored, when they have finished something, or even when they haven't finished something, as a distraction.

So whilst on the face of it the #BeACreativeProducer project is an animation project, a project in which a group of creative teenagers come together to share their skills, to create animations which celebrate and advocate teenage creativity, the project is also about how we can address the things which put pressure on a teenagers creative potential.

Number One, we need to look teenagers in the eye and tell them we value their creativity. We need to SHOW them we value their creativity. We need to enable teenagers to look each other in the eye and support each other's creativity, and we need to make certain that teenagers can therefore look themselves in the eye, maybe next time they take a selfie or look in the mirror, and tell themselves that their creativity is an important part of who they are.

Number Two, we need to help teenagers pay attention to their creativity. Creativity is a fragile beast, but it is also resilient. We can push it down personally (we have an idea which we dismiss), we can push it down socially (we can neglect to invest time and money) and ultimately we will push it down economically (if we have not invested in the creativity of a generation, how can we expect to reap economic rewards), BUT the creative urge will always be there, lying waiting, it is an intrinsic part of our humanity.

The good news is, if we can pay attention to even the smallest of creative urges or sparks, they will grow. We only need to tune in, and we will feed our creativity. It is the tuning in, or the showing up, that's vital. So, whilst art lessons are filled with techniques and art history and contextual studies, I would also suggest we need to think more about how we can enable teenagers to understand what it is like being IN the creative process, with its ugliness and beauty, inspiration and frustration, moments of desperation and moments of eureka. It isn't about the end result, though that is often great, it is about the create journey, and whilst we all go on our own journey, there are commonalities which we should be talking about more, so that we can reassure and demonstrate to teenagers that what they feel whilst they are being creative, is ok, and so enable them to continue on their journey.

We'd like to start with a quick video to introduce the team and the project. The fifth member, Immy, is at a ballet exam – we wish her good luck!”

Alex

The Project started in June. We noticed amongst our classmates that some people were pursuing their interests and hobbies, whilst others were dropping them as they weren't seen as cool. Instead they were spending more time on their phone. The project started as a message to help teenager become aware of how much time they are spending consuming digital, and to remind them that they can be producers, as well as consumers.

Amelia

But the project quickly developed into much more than that, and the animations we are making now are about helping teenagers think about how important their creativity is, both to them and to the world, and how they can become more creative.

Alex

We're definitely NOT saying that digital is a bad thing – the project wouldn't exist without digital, but we are trying to remind teenagers to consume it mindfully, and to balance it with the physical world.

Lluís

We have been meeting most weeks since June, after school and at the weekend. We must have put in hundreds of hours of work. The project will finish in February 2019.

Rowan

So what are our sessions like? Varied, is probably the best way of describing them! We usually start off around the table (eating pancakes) whilst Paula brings us up to date on things that have happened during the week (like being invited to the houses of parliament). We look back at clips made the week before, think what we might need to do to change them.

Amelia

Then we usually split up into pairs to work on new animations. So, two of us might be animating letters on a whiteboard, whilst another two might be editing photos in photoshop or in iMovie. Or we might be making physical models for an animation, and filming each other or recording voice overs. Every now and then we get together to compose music collaboratively, or compose it individually at home.

All the clips are then sent back to Paula's laptop for us then to edit together to make the scenes... Like Scene 2 which we would like to share with you now.

Rowan

We're so proud of what we've achieved so far. As well as being invited here, to share the project with you, we have also led a workshop at the Arts Picture House Cambridge, and have been invited to write a blog post for their website, and screen part of the animation before a main feature in 2019. Cambridge Junction will host a launch party for the finished animation in 2019. If you'd like to come to the launch then pls let us know.

Lluís

Every session we do is documented and Paula then creates a post on the AccessArt website so that others can be inspired and have a go.

We have also run a successful crowdfunder appeal to pay for workshops for schools on the launch day, AND for prizes for an animation competition we have launched.

Alex

“The World Needs Your Creativity! Animation competition is for ages 11 to 15. We had the idea, to get other teenagers involved, by inviting them to create a 30 second animation. The winning entry will receive £100 worth of vouchers and also have their animation included in our main animation on the opening night. You can find out more about the competition on the AccessArt website.

Amelia

The final animation will be around 20 minutes long, split into 5 scenes which can be watched alone, like scene 2 you just watched. We will also have an animated quiz section to help teenagers think about their attitude to consuming and creating digital content.

Rowan

The end result will be shared via social media and the AccessArt and #BeACreativeProducer websites, and we hope that schools, arts organisations and community groups across the country will share it with teenagers to help inspire their creativity.

Alex

So, What Have we Learnt from the Project?

The Project has helped us build a variety of skills....

Amelia

It's helped me build confidence in public speaking and helped me grow as a person. We are able to work as a team and empower each other in a relaxed and positive environment, which is an opportunity we don't often get at school.

Alex

The project has given great encouragement to everyone's creativity. For me in particular, it has helped feed my skill and interest in composing music, both for the project and for my own pleasure. I think my attitude to my own creativity has developed hugely throughout the project.

Rowan

I think that one of the most important things to me about the project is the way we are all able to contribute our ideas into what we do next, in a way we can't at school. Every session we are given the opportunity to input our own thoughts and opinions, and then have the freedom to put our ideas into action.

Lluis

Working on the project has given me a reason and a focus for my woodworking. I've enjoyed sharing what I've made and seeing them valued in the project.

Amelia

We would also like to see if we can develop the #BeACreativeProducer website (if we have the energy!) into a place which encourages teenagers to make and share their own animations, either alone or as a team, about things which they care about.

Rowan

So how can you help? Pls share the project and the competition, and we hope we have inspired you to look teenagers in the eye whenever you can and tell them that the world needs (and values) their creativity!!!

If anyone has any questions, we would love to answer them.

Thank you.

The Team invited the audience to write messages in support of art education on mini-banners. The banners were then animated back in Cambridge, and a sound track made...

AccessArt Exemplar Primary
Art Plan + Progression Plan

PLEASE NOTE

AccessArt has created a new Primary Art Curriculum which you can find here.

Schools will continue to have access to our old Exemplar and Progression Plan (below) but we urge new schools to follow the new curriculum available here.

AccessArt has created 3 plans to help Primary schools deliver a rich, exciting and relevant art education.

- 1) The EYFS Exemplar Curriculum Plan
- 2) The Primary Art Curriculum Plan
- 3) The AccessArt Progression Plan

The AccessArt EYFS & Primary Exemplar Plans

- What Are the Aims of the Exemplar Curriculum Plans?
  - To provide schools with a rounded art curriculum for ages 5 to 11 (Primary) and help in establishing an open approach to creativity for the under 5s (EYFS).

To provide NQTs, art coordinators and all primary teachers with the skills and resources to deliver an engaging, relevant curriculum.

- To suggest visual arts educational activities which will promote open-ended, creative learning.
- To provide ideas, inspiration and techniques to enable children to explore a wide variety of media in drawing, sketchbooks, sculpture, painting, printmaking, and design.

• Using & Developing the Plan in Your School

The exemplar plan is a suggested way forward. If a school were to follow the plan (based upon tried and tested teaching), by the end of Year Six the pupils would have received an exceptional and rounded creative education. However we appreciate each school, class and pupil has individual needs, and that many teachers and schools will prefer to use this plan as a starting point to be adapted. We value this evolution: please do get in touch to share your successes!

Find out how to scaffold the projects in the plan with sketchbooks and drawing, to ensure even richer journeys and outcomes.

• How it Works

Click on the Year buttons within the plan to see the exemplar plan for each year.

- Each year is split into 6 projects, one for each half term. Click on the suggested resources within each plan and you will be taken to fully illustrated resources which describe the aims, techniques and outcomes of that particular activity.
- Within each year, we have tried to balance development of skills in the main artform areas and with a variety of media.
- The plan for each year builds upon previous skills learnt. However, the plan and the suggested activities within each year are transferable and adaptable. For example, you are able to switch activities within a school year, or even between school years, to suit your broader curriculum and the needs of your pupils.
- Accessing the Resources
  - Whilst many of the resources are free to access, you will need to be a member to access the majority of our resources.
  - AccessArt is a UK charity (1105049) which aims to inspire and enable high quality visual arts teaching and learning. We receive no core or revenue funding, instead we rely on income from membership to continue to develop our activities. AccessArt has over 18000 members and is trusted by schools across the country to help develop their teaching and learning.

- Membership (and access to all resources), starts at just £42 per year.

The AccessArt Progression Plan

Please Note: There is a new version of the Progression Plan here.

•What Are the Aims of the AccessArt Progression Plan

The AccessArt Progression Plan attempts to balance a number of important elements in art education. Create opportunities for new experiences balanced with:

- Time for repeated practice.
- Structured learning, balanced with.
- Space for personal exploration.
- The accumulation of technical skills and contextual knowledge, balanced with growing self-awareness of what it is to be a creative being.

Through all of the above, our aim is to enable individual pupils to make appropriate choices regarding materials and processes and to be empowered towards making a personal, creative response.

The plan is based upon a creative and holistic approach, which shows the inter-relations between various aspects of the visual arts, demonstrating how subject knowledge, skill and progression is built when all the elements work together.

We acknowledge the importance of teaching specific skills, sensitively modelling some materials, and introducing a wide variety of materials, concepts and artists as soon as possible.

We also advocate the importance of pupils being enabled to follow their own creative pathway, and the progression plan shows how this might best be encouraged to happen. When to let a child go, (and we would always argue that that should be as soon as possible) and how to enable that exploration, is key to a successful art education.

The progression plan attempts to balance two very important elements of a high quality visual arts education: 1) practice with 2) novelty. The plan demonstrates how opportunities can be created for repeated practice and consolidation of skills, alongside opportunities to introduce new materials and concepts to feed and excite the creative process.

We are keenly aware that many of teachers in primary schools are not specialist art teachers, and in many cases they did not have a comprehensive art education themselves. The progression plan links to example AccessArt resources to help non-specialist teachers understand how best to facilitate art.

Finally our progression plan was written from a slightly different perspective than many. It is less about measuring the progress of pupils, but instead it attempts to pinpoint the stages of opportunity which should be presented by teachers. If the appropriate opportunities are created, then pupils will progress.

• Assessment

There are no national standards set in art for primary-aged children.

AccessArt advocates for conversation-based assessment in art which takes place on an ongoing basis. The conversations might take place as a class, as a group, or one to one and will feed into processes of reflection and evaluation. These are not activities which should just take place at the end of projects, but throughout the creative process. This makes assessment meaningful, and not a tick-list process which bears no use or relevance to the child.

This kind of assessment requires that the teacher is actively involved in each learning journey of every child, which we understand is potentially time consuming. We believe this type of assessment underpins good teaching and leads to better outcomes, especially in such a sensitive area as nurturing a child's creativity.

Explore a resource of facilitating a gently and reflective class crit.

▪ Vocabulary

We will be producing a full guide to progression in vocabulary in 2021, including a glossary, but in the meantime key words, ideas and phrases are highlighted in pink on the Progression Plan

▪ What is our Approach Based Upon

AccessArt is the specialist provider of visual arts educational resources in the UK. We have over 20 years experience of facilitating the visual arts in schools.

Our progression plan is based upon the expertise within the AccessArt team.

The plan takes into account current National Curriculum guidelines, and bases its end of year descriptors on those supplied by the NSEAD curriculum.

We would also like to thank Susan Coles, Paul Carney and Mandy Barrett for their generosity in sharing their ideas and approaches in relation to progression and assessment with the primary field.

We would like to take the opportunity to thank all those working in the field, and acknowledge that the skills and experience of all those in the field build upon and benefit from an open and ongoing conversation.

• Disclaimer

We believe the curriculum we present via our Exemplar Plans, and our working methods shared via our Progression Plan, provide schools with a way to access a rich art education for pupils, of which schools can be proud.

The curriculum AccessArt shares is based upon our ethos which has developed over many years and which we believe has creative integrity. In the creation of the Progression Plan we have taken the opportunity to present schools with what we believe will be the best possible art education for their pupils, building and enhancing upon what already exists.

Schools should note that the majority of our resources are created by artist-educators. Some but by no means all were created in formal education settings. It is up to teachers to assess on an individual or school community basis if the resources are right for your school, and how they might best be adapted to suit your needs.

All resources cited in both the Exemplar Plans and the Progression Plan are examples only, and there are many more resources in the evolving AccessArt database which may suit your needs better.

AccessArt presents our work to schools in good faith, but we cannot guarantee and are not responsible for the way the approach is received.

#BeACreativeProducer Launch!

The #BeACreativeProducer Project was launched at Cambridge Junction.

Congratulations to Immy, Amelia, Rowan, Alex and Lluís for an inspirational launch night, led by Paula Briggs from AccessArt. Find out more about how #BeACreativeProducer.

Enjoy the images and videos below!

Setting Up

The launch of the #BeACreativeProducer Project consisted of props made by the teenagers throughout the project, over 26 minutes of final animations and a workshop with 30 Year 6 Pupils from a local school. We spent the morning setting up, working alongside technicians from Cambridge Junction.

Exhibiting the Props

Some of the props we made as part of the animations were exhibited alongside the film and animation...

Workshop with Year 6 Pupils

We invited a local primary school, Morley Memorial, to visit and see some of the animations and have a go at making animations.

Live Link to the Baltic, Newcastle

The teenagers had a live link with teachers from primary and secondary schools attending a teacher meeting at the Baltic Arts Centre. They showed the props, answered questions and talked about art education.

Time to Share the Final Animations!

The project was introduced by Paula from AccessArt... and then it was time to share...

"I thoroughly enjoyed seeing the fruits of these young people's labours last night – their creativity and confidence as 13 year-olds is absolutely awesome ! Well done for making it such a great project, and a super occasion." Chris Owen, Honorary Visiting Senior Fellow, Cambridge School of Art

"A great event last night, you should be proud of what you started and how it developed into the final spectacular finish. The yellow T-shirt's were obviously so engaged with the project and totally behind what creativity can bring to their lives and hopefully that will inspire others to do the same." Jane Reynard, Scolaquip

"A totally inspiring event from @accessart #BeACreativeProducer last night. Amazing young people, and looking forward to hopefully collaborating in the future."
Lynne Simpkin, NUA

"The pupils were awesome and so inspiring. All our art teachers were talking about it afterwards. They did u proud!"
Paul Carney, Neaten

"What an event this was. It shared processes as well as outcomes, it showed creativity by the bucketload, it shared the strength and power of friendship and collaboration. It made my heart sing. Can't thank you enough for the opportunity to watch this project develop and then to attend this unique and special day." Susan Coles, Artist, Activist & Educator

Teenagers Visit Norwich University of the Arts

Many thanks to Lynne Simpkin and Sam Webber from Norwich University of the Arts for making the teenagers from the “How to Be a Creative Producer” animation project so welcome when we visited the degree show.

The teenagers were given a tour of the animation, architecture, photography, fine art, games art and design, VFX, illustration, and graphic communication shows, seeing at first hand the ethos of the “How to Be a Creative Producer” project at work.

The teenagers also interviewed undergraduates to create video clips which will be used in the project. The clips will be integrated into the animation they teenagers are making.

Helping Teenagers Become Creative Producers

5 Year 9 teenagers from a Cambridgeshire school are currently working with Paula

Briggs from AccessArt to create a series of animations aimed at encouraging teenagers across the country to become more aware of how they consume the digital world, and how they can take the first steps to becoming creative contributors.

learn more about the #BeACreativeProducer Project?

• What is the #BeACreativeProducer Project?

The #BeACreativeProducer Project is the culmination of 9 months of hard work by 5 teenagers and Paula Briggs from AccessArt.

The team have been meeting after school and at weekends to share their creative skills in the digital and physical world (including art, drama, dance, music and making), to create a series of animations and films which aim to inspire other young people to value their own creativity.

The journey the teenage team has been on has been quite extraordinary and is testimony to their openness to explore the many opportunities presented to them. In addition to their hard work in making the animations, which involved a wide variety of skills from concept and brainstorming, making models, playing and composing music, filming, drama, creating artwork and models, recording voice overs, editing and marketing, the team have also visited art schools and interviewed creative adults, run a successful crowdfunder, run workshops for children, organised an animation competition, written articles and posts, and presented their project at the Houses of Parliament!

The end result, a series of animation designed to inspire teenage creativity in others, will be launched at the end of February 2019. Watch this space to find out more, and make sure you are registered with AccessArt to be kept in touch!

• How can Schools, Community Groups & Galleries use the Project?

The final animations will be approximately 20 minutes long, and will be split into smaller scenes which can be watched alone or as a series.

The aim of the animations is to inspire other teenagers and young people to recognise the importance of their own creativity, whatever that might be. The project also hopes to encourage other teenagers to combine their creative skills, and make and share their own animations about things they care about.

The project also encourages teenagers to try to strike a balance between the physical and digital world, and to realise they can use the digital world as a key creative tool.

In particular the animations will be suitable for Year 6 (11 year old) children and upwards. The animations will be perfect for sharing in assemblies to stimulate discussion, and in art lessons and art workshops. Access to the animations is free of charge.

We hope the #BeACreativeProducer hashtag becomes used by projects all over the country (and overseas), and that we inspire other teenagers to find their creative voice.

• When do the Final Animations go Live?

The final animations will go live on the 28th February 2019. Pls make sure you are registered with AccessArt to be kept up to date.

Ten Minutes, Five Times a Week

Ten Minutes, Five Times a Week is a simple set of drawing exercises designed to get people drawing. The resources are aimed at a broad audience, but designed particularly with educators in mind.

Each exercise is designed to give non-specialist educators the confidence to approach drawing, by committing to regular, brief drawing activities for just one week.

Find a 45-minute session recording demonstrating the exercises and approaches you'll find on the page below.

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS AND HOW DO WE FIT

THE EXERCISES INTO THE DAY?

- Who can I use the exercises with?

The exercises are adaptable and suitable to learners in all settings, including EYFS, Primary and Secondary Schools, Health & Community Care, Home Education, Lifelong Learning and Museum and Gallery Education.

- What might the benefits be?

Our experience has shown the following benefits from similar projects:

1. Opening minds as to what a drawing activity can be as both an activity and an outcome

- Improved dexterity (which also helps with handwriting).
- Helps learners transition between parts of the day.
- Improved concentration.
- Improved sense of wellbeing through the mindful element to the exercises.
- Improved drawing skills and improved creative confidence.

Improved confidence amongst non-specialist educators teaching art.

• How might you fit the exercises into the day?

Ten Minutes, Five Times a Week would make a great activity to start any session in your educational setting. Try swapping your usual morning activity with this challenge, and see how it impacts the week. You could also use the exercises immediately before any other art session as a way of helping learners transition and tap into their creativity.

It's worth noting that it doesn't need to be a one-off venture: you can repeat the exercises as often as you want, as repetition provides an opportunity for learners to gain meaningful drawing skills over time.

Before you start...

Before Each Session: Set Expectations

The following exercises work best if the learners work quietly and with concentration. A quiet atmosphere will help learners tune into close seeing and set a calm and mindful intention for the session.

After Each Session: Reflect

At the end of each session, it's worth investing two minutes in getting learners to walk around the room to look at each other's work. This will help them focus and reflect on their experiences and the experiences of others. Reflection also gives learners space to recognise the value of the work that has been made. Learners might comment on what they like about their peer's work.

At the End of the Week: Revisit

Please make time to revisit the exercises to allow learners to articulate and reflect upon their progress over the week. You may like to ask some questions...

- What was their favourite exercise to do?
- Which outcome do they feel was the most successful and why?
- Is there something they would like to try next, for example, a new material?

You might like to give them a chance to repeat an exercise to allow them to consolidate their experiences and reflections.

Why we Need to Teach Drawing in School

If you are new to teaching drawing in schools, please don't think for a moment that drawing is a nice activity but one which serves little purpose in the real world.

The following film was made by The Big Draw

Straight from the horses mouth, the awards body OCR stresses why we need to encourage pupils to study creative subjects:

1. The arts make self starters and develop emotional intelligence

All require the student to set their own agenda from within themselves, rather than follow set topics as in other subjects. They have to make independent decisions all the way, and be self-critical. They also need to be brave in exposing their creations, and accept criticism. Working in teams makes students into good communicators.

2. The arts stretch...

Music, art and drama require long hours of hard work and dedication. Students have to pay great attention to detail, to perfect and redo. Putting on a play, exhibition or concert takes strong organisational skills.

3. Arts students are highly sought-after by employers

Many employers now actively seek those who have studied the arts. Steve Jobs, founder of Apple, was fond of saying his success was due to his hiring artists and musicians fascinated by technology rather than computer geeks. Top talent management agency, The Curve Group specialising in financial and business services, concurs: "Employees with an arts degree have developed more quickly in their roles from the start. They have discipline, confidence and can accept criticism."

4. Arts 'reach the parts other subjects can't reach'

The arts develop the broader dimensions of the human being – mind, body and soul. The arts can express the inexpressible and make sense of things that otherwise do not seem to. This can be very fulfilling and helps us function as human beings – which can only be good for society as a whole.

5. Arts 'reach the students other subjects can't reach'

Teachers find arts subjects particularly beneficial for two groups: those who struggle with traditional subjects and those who are high achieving. Less academic students can become defeatist if they feel they can't achieve: drama, music or art can be the place they blossom. With studious students, the arts can bring them out of themselves and be a release.

Watch how learning about art and design can lead to work in this inspirational video by Creative Journey UK:

2.8 MILLION JOBS

And finally, pls listen to Bob and Roberta Smith in this film by The Big Draw, explaining why we teach art in schools:

---

We Need To Make More Banners!

Come on!

Let's put our passion in the visual arts , and belief in the importance of arts education, to good use. Let's make more banners to get our message across!

The Suffragettes did it, and Trade Union Associations still do it. Bob and Roberta

Smith is great at it.

Banners can be eloquent, beautiful and powerful.

They can help build community and challenge preconceptions.

Think carefully:

What would your banner say, and how would you say it?

Send us your images of banners you have made #makemorebanners
