

Playing With Perspective

By Joe Gamble

This resource reframes the traditional view that drawing "perspective" is a technical exercise involving horizon or vanishing points. This simple drawing activity aims to highlight that perspective is different for all of us and that seeing and drawing can ground us in our space.

"Even if we are both standing in the same place, we're not quite seeing the same thing." - David Hockney

What We Like About This Resource...

“It’s always so inspiring to hear how different artists work and we particularly like the detailed references Jake makes to his process – marking out the composition using neutral tones; adding and taking away compositional elements and gradually building in more colour and detail. Delivering a still life session in a classroom could begin with this process and encourage the practice of looking at positive and negative space. Some suggested resources below also touch on this”. – Rachel, AccessArt

Modelling the Head in Clay Part 2 – Preparations

This post looks at two preparations for making a clay head: drawing to help us learn to see the form in the round, and taking measurements from life.

This is the second post in a series of resources showing how teenagers modelled a clay head over the course of a term.
