

Adapting AccessArt: Sequence and Story Building

By Yu-Ching Chiu

In this post, artist and educator Yu-Ching Chiu shares a workshop inspired by the AccessArt resource Drawing Stories Illustrated by Children that she facilitated at Yuejin Art Museum in Tainan, Taiwan, with a small mixed-age group of participants.

In this 1.5-hour session, Yu-Ching encouraged participants to create a story, told in a 3-part series of illustrations using the local area and various prompts as the starting point for their illustrated story.

Which Artists: Theresa Easton

What We Like About This Resource...

“It’s interesting to hear Theresa describe Printmaking as a social activity, with the shared use of materials and equipment so central to the practice. This could be a positive way of working for lots of children in school, where instead of just working on individual art work, they can collaborate and embrace the creative sharing experience!” – Tobi, AccessArt.

What We Like About This Resource...

“It’s always so inspiring to hear how different artists work and we particularly like the detailed references Jake makes to his process – marking out the composition using neutral tones; adding and taking away compositional elements and gradually building in more colour and detail. Delivering a still life session in a classroom could begin with this process and encourage the practice of looking at positive and negative space. Some suggested resources below also touch on this”. – Rachel, AccessArt
