"OK so you think you've finished. Time for a final test – ask someone else to have a look at your game, and have a go to make sure it works. Then ask some more questions:

- Is it strong enough to withstand playing with?! Do I need to go back to a particular joint/area to make it stronger?
- Does it look good? Could I make it look any better?
- Do I need to make anything else to go with it? For example, if your game needs people to stand a certain distance away, could you make a line which you place on the floor? Does it need a stage? Accessorize your game!"
