The Nonna Maria Drawing Challenge

Draw Your Granny or Grandpa or Any Relative that You Love!

Now that you have watched Nonna Maria's story, can you create an illustration or drawing of one of your grandparents (or any relatives that you love!), maybe also reflecting their kindness?

Here are some insights into my creations which hopefully will help inspire you in your drawings:

She had an idea.
With a face mask and gloves
to protect from the virus,
she began to cook
for them all.

Here I depicted my granny Maria and her love for being in the kitchen and cooking all sorts of things, but especially pasta, pizza and cakes!

Here I depicted my granny Maria (can you see her?) whilst delivering food to all the neighbours and also some family members. This illustration shows the love of community that my granny had.

Here I depicted the building where my uncle and his family lives. And actually many of the characters (humans or not!) are drawings I made of my friends and also other family members!

Send Your Drawing And Share the Love!

Once you've finished your drawing you may want to share it with your grandma and grandpa or relatives that you love. We're sure you'll make their day! We'd love to see your drawings so please tweet @accessart with #NonnaMariaChallenge or email: sheila@accessart.org.uk

My Uncle's Lockdown Story

Times were strange and uncertain. Covid-19 has torn the world in shreds. Among many other doctors, my uncle is one of the frontliners battling against dreadful covid-19.

In the morning, my uncle set off to the hospital like any other day.

After he arrived at the hospital, he went past sick bay to his room and as usual there weren't many patients in the hospital.

After some time, a patient came who was having dry cough and fever. He said miserably, "I have covid-19".

All of a sudden, he saw so many patients at the sick bay. They all had covid-19! But he didn't panic and he was brave, caring and compassionate. Courageously, he put his own life in risk for saving other people's life.
