Helena Lyons

Helena is an Artist and art facilitator based in Devon. Originally from Ireland, she spent many years in London working in illustration and design.

After her children were born she developed a passion for sharing her creativity with them, and before too long with other young families too. This has developed into a thriving creative community where Helena provides gentle encouragement, inspiration and the sharing of fun, explorative art techniques with the children of local schools, the home-educated community and adults.

She is driven and passionate about engaging all ages with accessible and playful art.
