Young Artists

“I’m Mitch, I’m from East Ham, London and now live in Cambridge. I’ve played the piano since I was 4, and have continued this as well as other instruments: they all feed into my composition and music production, which is my main passion.

I also really enjoy film photography, particularly of people or things I can connect with; however I also really see the value in things that can’t be connected with or understood, only interpreted however you want, and this leads me to explore abstract art with warped or spliced film.”
