

Modroc

Modroc is a great material to explore casting, construction and modelling. It comes in sheets of Plaster-of-Paris, and once water is added, dries hard. It's light-weight, quick-drying and can capture lots of fine textures, making it suitable for a wide variety of creative outcomes. It also provides a great surface for painting or drawing on, making it ideal for a mixed media approach.

Find resources below which explore using modroc in many different ways, suitable for all ages and settings.
