

Session Recording: Spaces and Skills to Nurture Creative Thought & Action

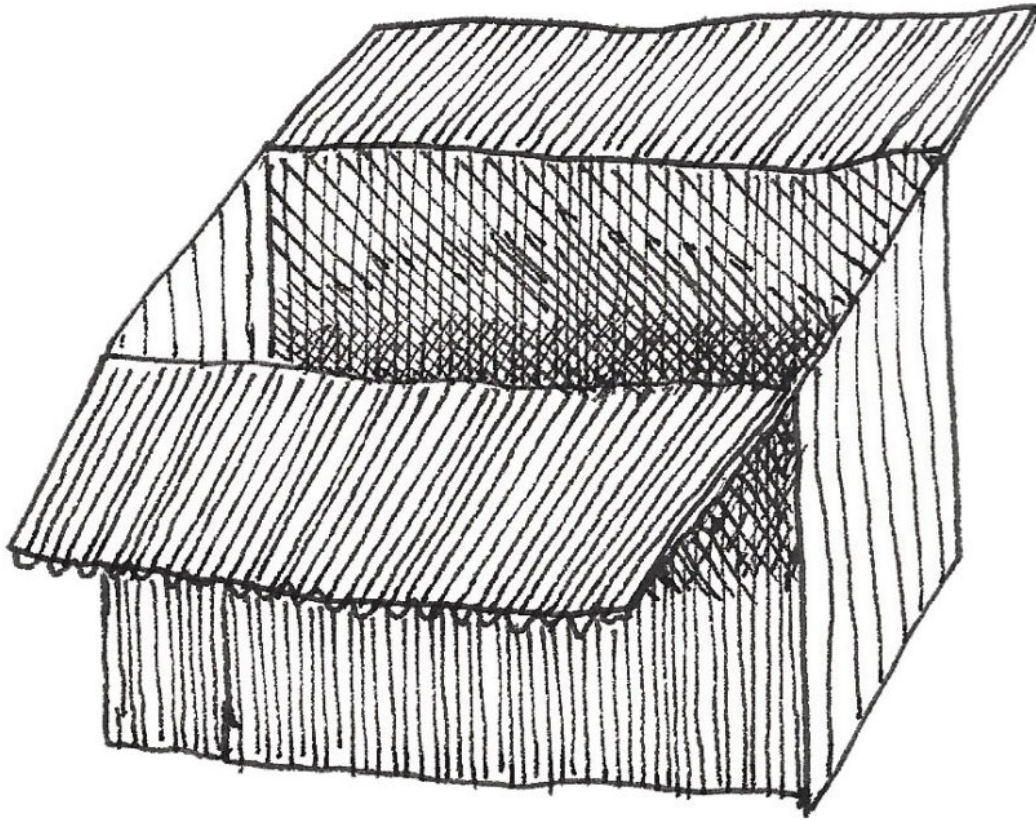

In this online session recording, FE Art Lead and Artist Toby Saville and Sculptor and Lecturer Silke Dettmers joined us to discuss how we can develop approaches to creative thought and action through art.

The session aimed to spark conversation between the different steps of the educational ladder and to find common ground and shared solutions between educational sectors.

We also discussed things that hinder creativity and how, as teachers, we can become creative facilitators.

This session recording is suitable for educators working in all settings, including EYFS, Primary and Secondary Schools, Sixth Form Colleges, Further and Higher Education, and Home Education.
