

Pedagogy in Practice

To complement our evolving collection of resources to support visual arts exploration in the classroom and community, AccessArt is creating a series of resources which help teachers explore pedagogy and approach.

Please get in touch if you would like to contribute.

Pedagogy Team of Expertise

Paula Briggs

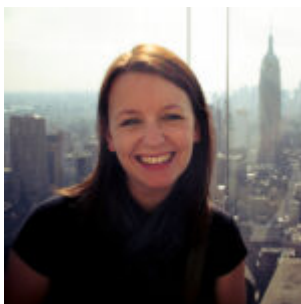

Sheila Ceccarelli

Stephanie Cubbin

Mandy Barret

Susan Coles

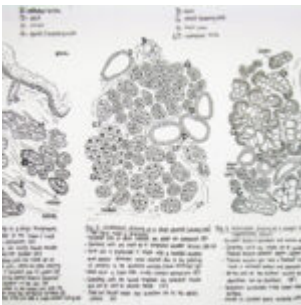

Paul Carney

Jan Miller

Fay Cullingham

Pedagogy Resources

Why Is Creativity Important?

Explore why it is important that we find time and space to help facilitate creativity in schools.

Planning a Creative Curriculum

Thoughts and practical approaches to support planning a rich curriculum. How do we promote creative risk taking and a journey-based approach, centred on drawing, sketchbooks and all kinds of making. Read More.

How Do We Assess Creativity

Assessing art is different to assessing many other subjects. How best to approach assessment of art in school. Read More.

Teacher's Own Creativity

How can we enable teachers to experience and develop their own creativity? How does that impact upon their teaching? Read More.

Sharing Ideas Between Settings

Key to AccessArt's approach since our inception is that we can all learn from each others practice. How do we learn from teachers before and after us in the education pipeline, and what approaches can we learn from creative practitioners? Read More.

Inspirational Case Studies

Seeing how other schools facilitate art successfully is a great starting point to develop your own practice in schools. Read More.