

Plinth People: Sculptural Self Portraits

By Paula Briggs

In the AccessArt Art Club for ages 8, 9 and 10, we've started a body of work (sculpture, collage, painting, drawing) which is loosely autobiographical. The idea is that by the end of the term, the children will have each made several small artworks based upon their own likes, dislikes, etc., and the children will then make a cardboard suitcase which will both house these collections and provide a pop-up gallery for each child.

This week, we started by making autobiographical sculptures.

Elspeth hugging "Lavvy"

Preparation

	Please log in here to access full content.
Username	<input type="text"/>
Password	<input type="password"/>
	<input type="button" value="Login"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Remember me

	Forgot Password
--	---------------------------------

To access all content, I would like to join as...

An Individual

Creative practitioners, educators, teachers, parents, learners...

From £3.50

An Organisation...

Schools, Colleges, Arts Organisations: Single and Multi-Users
From £42

AccessArt is a UK Charity and we believe everyone has the right to be creative. AccessArt provides inspiration to help us all reach our creative potential.

---

See This Resource Used In Schools...

You May Also Like...

Pathway: The Art of Display

This is featured in the 'The Art of Display' pathway

talking points: What is a plinth

talking points: Thomas J Price

Adapting AccessArt: Plinth People

